

STRADA scoops two titles at the 2009 Caterersearch.com web awards

5th January 2010

STRADA was the big winner in this year's Caterersearch.com web awards picking up not one, but two, titles. The brand won best website in the Restaurant Group category and was also voted overall winner by the users of Caterersearch.com.

The judges praised the STRADA website for its "slick and professional look". "It delivers all the information I would be looking for when trying to decide where to eat," one judge said.

The STRADA website was relaunched in February 2009 and incorporates a number of sector leading innovations, including online booking, an intuitive restaurant search tool and instructional cooking videos presented by STRADA's development chef, Maurice Maffeo.
